

Email Protection Plans

How to update your website

This document provides you with content and information that will help you update your website with the new Email Protection plans to ensure you have up to date content.

You will find the most up to date content to populate your site from our live web page:

barracuda.com/products/email-protection. This should help you with any wording and messaging, but if you need anything clarified, please reach out to your local marketing manager.

To assist with using the content, we have created two images and a PDF that aim to make it quick and easy to update your website with the latest information about Barracuda's Email Protection plans.

These are available below. This image can also be linked to this PDF which provides further information about each plan. You can link directly to this PDF that we have hosted, or you can host the document yourself.

You can download the image here - simply right click to save the image to your files.
